

Zarzuo Organica — Return & Refund Policy

Effective Date: 19 August 2026

1. Overview

Zarzuo Organica sells food and consumable products, including organic grains, millets, rice, health mixes, and related products.

Because these are food products, returns are handled differently from ordinary non-food products. Zarzuo Organica prioritizes food safety, hygiene, and product quality.

Customers should contact Zarzuo Organica as soon as possible if there is a problem with an order.

2. When Is a Refund or Replacement Available?

A customer may be eligible for a refund or replacement if:

- The wrong product was delivered.
- The wrong quantity was delivered.
- The product was damaged during delivery.
- The package was open, torn, leaking, or visibly tampered with when received.
- The product was expired when delivered.
- The product has a confirmed manufacturing or quality defect.
- The product appears contaminated or unsafe to consume.
- The product received is materially different from the product ordered.
- The order was cancelled before dispatch and payment had already been collected.
- The order was lost in transit and cannot reasonably be delivered.

Eligibility is subject to verification by Zarzuo Organica.

3. Products That Are Normally Not Eligible for Return

Food products that have been opened, partially consumed, or used are generally not eligible for return because of food-safety and hygiene considerations.

Refunds are normally not provided for:

- Change of mind after receiving the product.
- Personal taste or preference.
- The customer simply does not like the taste or texture.
- Products opened or consumed by the customer without a qualifying product defect.
- Damage caused by improper storage after delivery.
- Damage caused by moisture, heat, contamination, or mishandling after delivery.
- Products consumed after their expiry or best-before date.
- Incorrect delivery information supplied by the customer.

This does not restrict any rights available to the customer under applicable consumer-protection law.

4. Damaged Product

If a product arrives damaged, the customer should:

1. Avoid consuming the affected product.
2. Take clear photographs of the damaged product and packaging.
3. Keep the product and packaging until the complaint is resolved.
4. Contact Zarzuo Organica customer support with the Order ID.
5. Provide photographs or other evidence requested by the support team.

After verification, Zarzuo Organica may provide a replacement or refund depending on the circumstances.

5. Wrong Product or Missing Product

If the customer receives an incorrect product or an incorrect quantity, the customer should contact Zarzuo Organica with:

- Order ID.
- Product received.
- Product originally ordered.
- Photographs of the received product and packaging, if requested.

After verification, Zarzuo Organica may arrange a replacement, refund, or another appropriate resolution.

6. Product Quality or Safety Complaint

If a customer believes that a product is contaminated, spoiled, defective, or unsafe to consume:

The customer should not consume the product.

The customer should immediately contact Zarzuo Organica and provide:

- Order ID.
- Product name.
- Batch or lot number, if available.
- Expiry/best-before information.
- Photographs of the product and packaging.
- Description of the issue.

Zarzuo Organica may request additional information for investigation.

The chatbot must not diagnose food contamination or tell the customer that a product is safe to consume. Safety-related complaints should be escalated to customer support.

7. Return Request Time Limit

Customers should report damaged, incorrect, defective, expired, or quality-related products within 48 hours of delivery whenever reasonably possible.

Late complaints may still be reviewed where appropriate, particularly when the issue concerns product safety or a manufacturing defect.

8. Refund Process

Once a refund is approved, Zarzuo Organica will initiate the refund through the original payment method where technically possible.

The time taken for the refund to appear in the customer's account may depend on the bank, card issuer, UPI provider, payment gateway, or other payment service.

Customers should generally allow 5–10 business days after refund initiation for the amount to be credited.

9. Replacement Instead of Refund

Depending on the situation, Zarzuo Organica may offer a replacement instead of a refund.

Examples include:

- Damaged product.
- Incorrect product.
- Missing product.
- Confirmed defective product.

The final resolution will depend on the circumstances of the complaint and applicable consumer-protection requirements.

10. Return Shipping

If Zarzuo Organica confirms that a product must be returned because it was damaged, defective, incorrect, expired, or otherwise eligible under this policy, Zarzuo Organica will arrange or cover reasonable return shipping where applicable.

Customers should not independently ship products back unless instructed by Zarzuo Organica.

11. Order Cancellation

Customers may request cancellation before the order is dispatched.

If the cancellation is successfully processed before dispatch and payment has already been collected, the eligible amount will be refunded.

Once an order has been dispatched, cancellation may no longer be possible. In such cases, the customer should contact customer support for assistance.

12. Delivery Failure

If delivery fails because of an incorrect address, incorrect phone number, customer unavailability, or repeated failure to accept the shipment, Zarzuo Organica may contact the customer to arrange another delivery attempt.

Additional delivery charges may apply where the failed delivery was caused by incorrect information or customer-side circumstances.

13. Lost or Delayed Orders

If an order is lost in transit or significantly delayed, Zarzuo Organica will investigate the shipment with the relevant delivery partner.

Depending on the outcome, Zarzuo Organica may provide:

- Replacement shipment.
- Refund.
- Another appropriate resolution.

The chatbot should not promise a refund or replacement before the shipment status has been verified.

14. Storage Responsibility

Customers must store products according to the storage instructions provided on the product packaging.

Zarzuo Organica is not responsible for quality deterioration caused by:

- Improper storage.
- Exposure to excessive heat.
- Exposure to moisture.
- Contamination after delivery.
- Improper handling.
- Storage beyond the recommended period.
- Consumption after the expiry/best-before date.

15. Refund for Partial Order Issues

If only part of an order is affected, Zarzuo Organica may issue a refund or replacement for the affected product rather than the entire order.

For example, if one product in a five-product order is damaged, the resolution may apply only to the affected product.

16. Payment Gateway or Transaction Failure

If money has been deducted from the customer's account but the order was not successfully created due to a payment or technical failure, the customer should provide the transaction details or payment reference.

Zarzuo Organica will verify the transaction before processing an appropriate refund.

17. Customer Support

For return, refund, replacement, delivery, or product-quality issues, customers should contact Zarzuo Organica through the customer-support details provided on the official website or order confirmation.

When contacting support, customers should provide their Order ID whenever available.

18. Consumer Rights

Nothing in this policy is intended to remove or restrict any rights available to consumers under applicable Indian consumer-protection laws.

Where applicable law provides a remedy for defective, deficient, spurious, materially different, or otherwise non-conforming products, those rights continue to apply.

19. Policy Changes

Zarzuo Organica may update this Return & Refund Policy when its products, business processes, sales channels, or applicable legal requirements change.

The latest version published by Zarzuo Organica will apply to future orders.

RAG Chatbot Rules

The Zarzuo Organica chatbot should follow these rules when answering return and refund questions:

1. Do not automatically promise a refund.
2. Ask for the Order ID when handling a specific order complaint.
3. For damaged products, request photographs when appropriate.
4. For wrong products, verify the order before promising replacement.
5. For food-safety complaints, advise the customer not to consume the product and escalate the issue.
6. For opened food products, explain that returns are generally not accepted unless there is a qualifying defect, safety issue, or other applicable remedy.
7. For cancellation requests, determine whether the order has been dispatched.
8. For lost or delayed orders, verify shipment status before promising a refund.
9. Never invent an order status, refund status, refund approval, or delivery status.
10. Never claim that a refund has been processed unless the connected order/payment system confirms it.
11. If the customer's situation is unclear or outside this policy, escalate it to Zarzuo Organica support.
12. Do not provide legal conclusions. For disputes involving statutory consumer rights, escalate to human support.
13. Use the latest version of this policy as the authoritative source for general return and refund questions.

Example Chatbot Response

Customer: "My Zarzuo Organica rice packet arrived damaged. Can I get a refund?"

Chatbot: "I'm sorry about the damaged package. Please don't consume the affected product. I can help you with the refund/replacement process. Please provide your Order ID and, if possible, clear photos of the damaged product and packaging. Our team will verify the issue and arrange an appropriate refund or replacement."

Customer: "I opened the health mix but I don't like the taste. Can I return it?"

Chatbot: "Food products that have been opened or consumed are generally not eligible for return due to hygiene and food-safety considerations. However, if you believe there is a quality or manufacturing defect, please provide your Order ID and details of the issue so our support team can review it."
